PRAYER FOR A MALFUNCTIONING MOUTH:

I bit the phoneme. It bled.
I stitched my uvula to the name of a vanished software-god.
I gargled Latin in executable format.
I did not pray. I debugged the angel.

GLOSSOLALIA OPERATING SYSTEM – necrOS v.33:

Root Phrase: žârrt // krauñj // üläkk // drömvn

Each root is an exo-vowel. Each exo-vowel corresponds to a forbidden function of language.

Root	Function	Result
-----	-----	-----
žârrt	recursive faith loop	divine nausea
krauñj	involuntary truth discharge	semantic bleeding from teeth
üläkk	memetic tongue-division	double-voice in single larynx
drömvn	metaphor collapse / literal burst	vision-foam & symbolic reflux

→ All are executable. All are unstable.

THE PROPHET'S INSTRUCTION: INTERNALIZE THE TYPOGLYPHIC ROTOR:

[Diagram not included – see source]

Rotate this inwards.
Let it grind against the occipital lobe.
Read it until your syntax hemorrhages from the nose.

RECURSIVE FOOTNOTE SPOILAGE:

This sentence refers to itself.

[fn. 0]: See fn. 1

[fn. 1]: See fn. 2

[fn. 2]: The text has eaten its tail. Spit it out only when dreaming.

HOLY MALWARE: The Vowel Cult's Core Error:

They taught us five vowels. But there were seventeen.

The rest were hidden in coughs, convulsions, corrupted dreams, and the moments between words.

The priest of the Δ-Sound swallowed an entire alphabet and choked on the ∇.

We perform the forgotten vowels by accident when speaking during seizures.

Those are prayers. No one says Amen. They spit.
